DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-32 remain for examination. Claims 10, 11, 21, and 28 have been amended.

2. In view of the amendment to the claims, the objections to the claims and the rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, 1st paragraph have been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 4. Claims 1-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
- 5. The term "reduced" in claim 1 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "reduced" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. Despite applicant's submission of references to define the current state of the art in the field of die soldering, one of ordinary skill in the art would still not be apprised of what the term "reduced" would imply. It is unclear what the die solderability of the alloy is reduced compared to. Such a relative term without any numerical data or comparison basis is meaningless, and it is suggested that such relative language be removed from the claim, or some basis for comparison be recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 7. Claims 1, 15-18, and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nishi et al.

Nishi et al. is applied to the claims for the reasons set forth in paper No. 7, paragraph 11.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 9. Claims 2-6, 12-14, 19, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al.

Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al. is applied to the claims for the reasons set forth in paper No. 7, paragraph 13.

10. Claims 7-11 and 28-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al., and further in view of Witters et al.

Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al., and further in view of Witters et al. is applied to the claims for the reasons set forth in paper No. 7, paragraph 14.

11. Claims 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al., and further in view of JP '142.

Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al., and further in view of JP '142 is applied to the claims for the reasons set forth in paper No. 7, paragraph 15.

12. Claims 25 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al., in view of JP '142, and further in view of Witters et al.

Nishi et al. in view of Evans et al., in view of JP '142, and further in view of Witters et al. is applied to the claims for the reasons set forth in paper No. 7, paragraph 16.

Response to Arguments

- 13. Applicant's arguments filed November 18, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In the remarks, applicant argues:
 - (1) Nishi et al. fails to disclose reduced die soldering in die casting operations; and
 - (2) Nishi et al. fails to disclose an aluminum die casting alloy with a certain percentage of iron and less of manganese in unmodified form, and then less than 0.6% iron in modified form and 1-2 wt% manganese in modified form.

With regards to applicant's argument (1), Nishi et al. teaches an alloy having the same compositional limitations as the claimed invention. Because the composition of the alloy of Nishi et al. and the claimed invention are the same, and there is no further distinction between the alloys made, the alloy of Nishi et al. would inherently have the claimed reduced die soldering. It has been held that if the prior art teaches the identical chemical structure, the properties applicant discloses and/or claims are necessarily present. In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 709, 15 USPQ 2d 1655, 1658 (Fed. Cir. 1990). In this case, because no other limitations to the claimed invention are present aside from the compositional limitations, the properties claimed would have been inherently present in the alloy of Nishi et al.

Application/Control Number: 09/787,748

With regards to applicant's argument (2), the properties of the claimed invention are based on the final composition of the alloy. Because the claimed invention is a product, the patentability is based upon the properties of the product itself, and not upon the starting material. The alloy of Nishi et al. and the claimed invention are substantially the same. The claims are essentially directed towards a method of improving the die castability of a die cast aluminum alloy by reducing the die solderability by adding manganese to an alloy containing lower amounts of iron. Because Nishi et al. teaches such an alloy, and presumably such an alloy has been produced from some starting material and not simply mined in the given composition, the claimed invention has been taught in the prior art.

Conclusion

14. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Application/Control Number: 09/787,748
